Salem Officials Defend Butler Water Project

MAYOR STANDS FIRM AGAINST PLAN'S CRITICS

Barckhoff defends Project To Visiting Solons; Says No Danger

FEAR EXPRESSED IN YOUNGSTOWN

City of Salem Will Fight To Last Ditch. Is Official Word

Assurance that the proposed Butler water project in Salem will not divert sufficient water from the Mahoning river to endanger operations in Youngstown industrial plants was given Youngstown officials by Mayor Phil G. Hiddleson, Service Director C. A. Cavanaugh, and City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff, at a conference held in the engineer's office Thursday afternoon.

Youngstown was represented by Mayor Joseph Hoffmann and Engineering Commissioner George Turner, who visited the Salem officials after it was reported in the Mahoning district that this city was contemplating the construction of the new reservoir to supply Salem with 3,000,000 gallons of water daily.

Barckhoff stated today, "There are three large streams which have their origin at or near Salem, the Mahoning, the Meander, and the Little Beaver creeks, and as this city is situated on top of the divide, it must get its water from one of these three sources."

"For years this city has been pumping from wells which materially drain these different watersheds," he continued. "The proposition given to the city administration by the water committee contemplates conserving the same watersheds on top of the surface instead of continuing to deplete well operations."

The different water reports which have been submitted consider the conservation of two of these watersheds that surround us, and I have studied each carefully, and feel that whether the city of Salem continues getting its water from wells or from the surface, it is entirely justified in drawing its needs from each of these fields."

Hiddleson Will Fight

Hoffmann and Turner based their statements that the project will harm Youngstown's industries on the fact that, during dry seasons plants have barely enough water to continue operations. They protest any plan introduced by Salem (Continued on Page 4)

SEE DOPE RING IN MAN'S DEATH

Former Remus Henchman Believed Killed For Part In Peddling Narcotics; Found In Hotel

Dayton, O., May 3.—That August Bruck, former henchman of George Remus, ex-bootleg king and wife-slayer, whose bullet-riddled body was found in a room in a fashionable Cincinnati hotel Wednesday morning, may have been slain because of his connections with a large "dope-ring" was the theory advanced by Sheriff Robert M. Blank here today.

One of the principals in the Bruck, Joe Plunkett and Ed Hall, called at the jail here Sunday evening before the week of the slaying, it became known today. They asked to see two women who had been jailed on a "shop-lifting" charge. The women had been sent to Miami Valley Hospital for treatment for narcotics. The men called to the hospital and saw them there.

BUSSEY RENOUNCES PEACOCK FRIENDSHIP

College Student Who Came to Shield Boyhood Pal Ashamed of Stand When Told of Brutal Acts By Prosecutor; Tells of Past Actions

White Plains, N. Y., May 3.—Eugene Bussey, Baltimore collegian, who covertly received the kisses of pretty 20-year-old Dorothy Peacock, bride of Earl Peacock, who killed her and then burned her body, today renounced his life-long friendship for the slayer.

Bussey came here to help save his erstwhile friend. Previously, he admitted he had been unable to resist the kisses of "Dolly" but was willing to tell the whole story of Dorothy's flirtations with men to help save his friend. He and Earle had been inseparable chums since boyhood in Yonkers.

But following a long interview with District Attorney Frank Coyne, of Westchester county, Bussey today declared that he was utterly ashamed of his former stand. After Coyne revealed the fiendish details of the murder, Bussey said:

"I wouldn't care if Earle had shot himself."

Coyne today declined to state whether he would call Bussey as a witness in the state's attempt to convict Peacock.

COLUMBUS JAIL HIT BY WINDS; TWO ARE DEAD

Twister Tears Walls From Building In Ohio Capital

MANY PRISONERS DASH TO FREEDOM

Six Still Missing From Jail; Council Will Act At Once

Columbus, O., May 3.—Out of a scene of mighty chaos, which resulted when a twister struck a wing of the city jail here late yesterday, emerged a semblance of order today as police fixed the number of dead, injured and missing.

Two persons were killed, nine were injured and six prisoners are missing.

When the twister demolished the walls, all of the prisoners were stunned or bewildered, and when released from the cells, they made a headlong rush over the ruined walls to freedom. There were between 20 and 30 prisoners missing at 5 o'clock last night, but nearly all of these straggled back and surrendered to police.

A special meeting of the city council is to be held tonight to deal with the situation.

First Reports Wrong

First reports of the tragedy, which occurred late yesterday afternoon, put the number of dead at six, and said that 27 prisoners had fled when the near-tornado demolished their place of confinement.

RAINFALL HEAVY DURING APRIL IN COLUMBIANA CO.

1901 Only Year On Record To Have More; Oat Sowing Delayed

Lisbon, May 3.—Next to April 1901 when there was a rainfall of 7.40 inches, the month just ended took second place, so far as Columbiana county is concerned, with a rainfall of 6.06 inches.

The heaviest rainfall during April in any 24 hours was on the 10th when .80 inches was recorded.

These records have been revealed by Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, cooperative weather observer for the Columbiana county district.

Only three clear days were recorded during the last month, 12 being full cloudy and 15 partly cloudy.

The mean maximum temperature for April was 59.5 and the mean minimum stood at 37.9. The mean temperature was 48.7 and the maximum was 83 which was recorded April 6 and 7. April 19 was the coldest day with the temperature at 23 degrees. The greatest daily range was 44 degrees as recorded April 19.

The temperature during April was normal, but there were 15 rainy days, which prevented farmers from doing very much plowing. No oats have been sown, and this season is about two weeks late. Wheat is reported to be in excellent shape from all parts of the county, as are the pastures. There is also an abundance of bloom on all fruit trees, both large and small fruits.

Although there were 13 rainy days in April 1928, farmers did more plowing than was possible this year, but no oats were sown during April last year, yet a favorable crop was reported.

HEAVY RAINFALL FLOODS CELLARS IN CITY HOMES

15 - Year Record Broken By Thursday Fall In Salem

STATE ROAD IS CLOSED BY SLIDE

Secondary Roads Hard Hit By Floods; Bridges Out

Cellars in many sections of the city were flooded, streams overflowed, and fields covered with water, when Salem was visited by the heaviest rainfall recorded since 1923, the year of the city's greatest flood.

Rainfall for the last 24 hours was 1.71 inches, R. P. Vickers, city chemist, reported today, from the rain gauge in operation at the new sewage treatment plant. This is more than twice the greatest total recorded for any single day in April, .75 inches, which was registered April 20.

Snow fell in the city from 2 until 6 a. m. today, but changed to a slight rainfall later in the morning. The minimum temperature recorded during the 24-hour period was 33 degrees.

Road Closed By Slide

The Wellsville-Liverpool road, state route No. 7, was closed today on account of a landslide occurring as a result of the heavy rains. Numerous bridges and culverts were reported washed on county secondary roads, by the county surveyor's office in Lisbon. Many dirt highways are impassable.

The service department is busy cleaning out cellars of homes on McKinley and Garfield avs. Park, Fair, Green, High, Seventh and Eighth sts. and other thoroughfares. Service Director C. A. Cavanaugh reports, Sewers at street intersections were clogged by debris carried into them, flooding streets, while fields in the vicinity were covered with water.

The cellar of one home in third ward was flooded with four feet of water, while many in all other wards reported water in basements.

Most of the suffering is at Point Place, a lake-front suburb.

The storm was the third severe weather disturbance to strike here during the past month.

Streams were reported at high stages, but no alarm was felt as the waters were receding today.

The wind, driving the waters of Lake Erie before it, piled up over the breakwaters and shore-line, inundating lowlands and flooding lake roads.

SIXTEEN DIE IN SCHOOL WRECKAGE

40 Homes Destroyed In Morgantown, W. Va. By Twister

Thirty-five deaths—thirty in the south, one in Pittsburgh, two in Columbus and two in a train wreck at Oswego, N. Y.—and millions of dollars of property damaged are the results today of a series of storms and tornadoes which terrorized the Dixie and midwestern sections of the country.

International News Service reports from widely scattered districts indicated that in many sections suffering is intense and that the toll of injured persons will mount into the thousands.

Some parts of the south, where the storms wreaked their greatest fury, are virtually isolated with all means of communication cut off.

A freak of the lashing elements was a snowstorm borne into Buffalo, N. Y., where the ball game was called off because of snow.

The heaviest toll of lives was taken in Rye Cove, Va., where a twister demolished a school building and wrecked other structures. Fifteen students of the school and a male teacher were killed, while more than 150 others were injured.

The entire Nolichucky Valley was reported isolated as a result of the storm.

Near Foley, Ala., a man was killed and several others, including a woman and child, were injured in a similar twister.

Near Lafayette, Ga., a tree blown down in the storm, killed a farm youth.

The storm apparently blew itself out in Maryland, At Frederick, a number of barns were blown down and communications crippled.

DIVORCE AND GOLD DIGGING

Superior Judge William N. Gemmill, of Chicago, holds that the very common practice of women drawing alimony from their first husbands after their remarriage to other men is highly immoral, and he has expressed the hope that the matter be carried to the highest judicial authority to which submission is possible that a definite ruling may be had on this phase of the divorce problem which so frequently brings the courts.

The matter came before Judge Gemmill last week, when a divorced husband asked that he be relieved from paying the woman who had divorced him $25 a week alimony, stating that he had remarried and found the payment of $1,300 a year alimony a serious draft on his income. It was established that the complainant's former wife was making $25 a week and her husband twice that sum.

The former wife, however, was obdurate, insisting upon the payment of her financial "pound of flesh." She said another court had ordered him to pay her the alimony, that it was rightfully hers, and that she wanted it.

"I can not understand how you can expect your first husband, with whom you refused to live and whom you divorced, to continue to support you," Judge Gemmill said. "And I can not understand why you will take his money. How can you and your present husband live happily with the knowledge that you owe at least a portion of your maintenance to your first husband?"

The woman refused to be moved by the court's remarks, and her attorney intimated that he would carry the matter up in the event of a decision unfavorable to his client.

"Excellent," came back the judge. "The question is one which should be decided by a court decision. It is now merely a rule of law that it is not good public policy to require a man to support a woman after she has remarried. It is general opinion that she has the right to select whether she shall rely on her former husband for support or obtain support by another marriage. It is a question on which we should have a supreme court ruling for guidance." And to bring about a decision from the state's highest tribunal, and at the same time relieve the appellant of the burden of the weekly payment, he granted his appeal.

And why is not the course followed by this Chicago judge the just and proper one? Why should the courts be parties to the gold-digging of divorced women? It's a notorious fact that many women marry for no other purpose than the securing of alimony. There have been cases known, and probably there are such cases now, where women draw alimony from two former husbands. Cases have been reported where they have drawn from three or four and one case has been brought to light where a woman was living in comparative luxury on alimony drawn from five.

There are many cases in which alimony is a matter of right and justice, but it can not be in such cases as herein cited. Such gold-digging is impossible to self-respecting women, and the courts do well to frown on it when attempted by any other kind.

A DRAMATIC RESCUE

The whole world rejoices at the dramatic rescue of the brave fliers of the giant airplane, Southern Cross. Captain Charles Kingsford Smith, and his able lieutenant, Charles P. Ullm, with two companions, were forced down in the wilds of Australia far from human habitation more than two weeks ago, and although the capabilities and resourcefulness of the aviators were well known, fears for their safety grew as days passed with no word from them. In order properly to conduct the search airplanes were mobilized near the point from which the last definite information as to "the whereabouts had come from the fliers, but it was only a day or so ago when one of these searchers, from his low-flying plane, spotted ted the Southern Cross marooned on mud flats in a wild and desolate section. The fliers were nearly at the end of their resources when found. They had subsisted on mud snails and wild beans. Supplies were at once rushed to them by air and the adventure, with its tragic potentialities, has turned into a happy dramatic episode in the annals of aviation.

The Southern Cross made aviation history with Kingsford-Smith, Ullm, and two comrades, a year or so ago, when it spanned the Pacific in three magnificent hops. It was the first time that the world was able to hear a "running story" of a long-distance flight of an airplane. The speed of the ship, its altitude, the spirits of the crew, what they ate and what they did was carried to the four corners of the earth by the radio set of the Southern Cross as she sped on her way through the limitless blue. It was a triumph, this flight of the Southern Cross.

The world can ill afford to lose aviators of the type of Kingsford-Smith and Ullm. They have demonstrated that careful preparation, good equipment and flying skill can overcome many of the obstacles that face the pioneer in his effort to conquer the air. Their mishap on the present trip was due to no fault of theirs and the happy rescue restores them again to the opportunity to give them the opportunity they deserve to advance further the art of flying—Washington Star.

EARACHE MAY BE DUE TO NUMEROUS CAUSES

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

Pain is uncomfortable, almost unbearable at times. No matter where it is, if you wish you could escape it. Pain in the ear is about the worst of the pains. A real old-fashioned earache will cause the proudest of strong men to give every evidence of suffering.

I recall a roommate of mine in college. He had the earache and walked the floor by the hour. His outburst alternated between the childish weeping and vehement protest.

Not long ago I saw a lady leave the table, her hands clasping the back of her neck. Sudden and violent pain in that region was too much for her.

Talking with the lady afterward, I learned that she had a mastoid operation some years ago. Since that time she has had occasional attacks of neuralgic pain, attacks like the one I mentioned.

There are two distinct types of ear pain. One is due to actual inflammation, such as my roommate suffered. The blood vessels of the middle ear are filled with blood, actually crowded with blood. Or else there is an accumulation of fluid inside the middle ear. This places such pressure on the delicate nerves as to cause severe pain.

The other type is purely neuralgic in its nature, or it comes from an inflammation in the course of one of the nerves going to the ear, but the nerves that supply these tissues may be out of order. The pain may not be in the ear itself. It may appear to be located in the bone back of the ear. Or it may be in the back of the neck, as was the case with the lady of whom I spoke.

Repeated attacks of this sort should send the victim to the ear specialist. The purpose of the visit is to make certain exactly what may be the condition of the ear. There will be a sense of relief when this organ is found to be perfectly normal.

I shall assume that there is no trouble there. Then we must conclude the trouble is nervous in origin. It may be a "reflex" trouble. That is, the real source of the disturbance may be quite remote from the ear.

A defective tooth, for instance, an exposed nerve in one of the back teeth, may give little pain in the mouth. The pain may be referred to the ear or the region about it. I have seen many a case of "earache" disappear instantly. Getting rid of the bad tooth brings relief of the pain.

Disease of the nasal sinuses or of the tonsils may result in such absorption of pus as to poison the nervous system. In such a case there may be earache.

My purpose today is to point out that not every pain in the ear means disease of the ear. When you realize this, you will take pains to have such an examination as will locate the real cause.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, May 4

WHILE this may be a particularly lively and eventful day, spurred to action by fine courage and enterprise, yet there is danger of overdoing by overenthusiasm, impetuosity or violence. A beneficial change is noted and employment is favored, but a well-controlled mind must sit at the helm in order to secure the promised advantages. Avoid petty personal friction and intrigues.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a very lively year, with quickened energies and resources, but they should be restrained and not permit tumult, strife and impetuosity to undermine the promised advantages in employment or in a beneficial change or travel. Minor personal inharmonies should be suppressed. A child born on this day may be talented, resourceful and capable, but should be taught to keep in subjection tendencies to strife and inharmonies and intrigues.

PRISON

the cell block in the wing, when the twister descended upon the bastille. Both the east and west walls toppled outward, which was declared miraculous as a greater number of persons would have been buried if the tons of bricks had fallen inward upon the occupants.

All of the killed and injured were serving minor terms for drunkenness or traffic violations.

The dead are: Deril Devore, 38, and Henry Washington, 47, negro. The injured: Otto Malotti, 54, who is expected to die; Frank Clay, 34; Elmer Cox, 24; Harry Thatcher, 27; Mike Morrissey, 37; Tom Guthrie, police secretary; Louis Rader, city fireman; James Allen, negro, and Harry Love, 42.

Malotti and another man, then unidentified, were placed among the list of dead, by first reports emanating from the scene.

Police in all Ohio cities have been given a description of the missing and an exhaustive hunt is under way today.

Other Damage In Storm

Two prisoners were captured ten minutes after the tragedy, when they were found running along a west side street. Another prisoner, a negro, was taken into custody in the downtown section.

A filling station was demolished, small houses were unroofed, trees uprooted and telephone wires were leveled in the same locality when the twister swept toward the downtown section. It had exhausted itself, however, by the time it reached the business district.

The twister was the forerunner of a December-like storm which lashed Columbus last night. Snow flurries whipped through town, disrupting traffic and doing considerable damage to crops in nearby farming areas.

SALEM WATER

which will lower their city's supply, according to their statements Thursday.

Mayor Hildeson stated definitely that the city of Salem will fight to the last ditch to get this water project, and was emphatic in statements, together with Barckhoff, that Youngstown's supply will not be lowered.

Heffernan and Turner will be given full details of the project, within the next 24 hours, for their study. Today they called a conference of the Youngstown board of control to decide what action will be taken. If the city decides to fight the project, Heffernan is said to have stated today, the cooperation of Warren, Niles, Girard, Alliance, and Sebring will be asked.

City Engineer Anderson of Alliance discussed the manners in which Alliance will be affected, Thursday afternoon, following the conference with the Youngstown officials, and left, apparently satisfied that city will not be harmed.

No Reason To Object

Youngstown representatives also seemed assured that the plan will not involve their city into any scarcity of water, but wished to conduct thorough examination of the project. Heffernan stated yesterday that he expects to attend the next meeting of Salem council in person, or will send a representative.

"The project which will probably confront Salem electors in the August election will be one to conserve five miles of the Mahoning sheds and eventually a similar area of the Little Beaver Drainage of this city has been so fixed as to not interfere with any other city," Barckhoff stated.

"In view of the justness of Salem's position in this matter, there seems to be little reason for any city to object to the project."

Life Loss, Crop Damage Over Four Central States

consequent result that two persons are dead today and twelve others are recovering from injuries.

Throughout Central Illinois, Southwestern Michigan, Eastern Indiana, Missouri and Eastern Iowa, crop damage exceeding $1,000,000 was caused when snow and rain followed in the wake of a northeast gale.

In some sections six inches of snow had fallen. In St. Louis and Valparaiso, Ind., four inches were reported.

In the eastern section of the country preparations were being rushed to meet the storm which is now reported to be sweeping toward the Atlantic coast line.

Shipping circles in New York and other Atlantic ports were warned of the storm's approach.

Rye Cove, Va., May 3.—Fifteen school children and a male teacher are dead, seven students are missing and seven others are believed near death today constituting the human toll of a tornado which wreaked its destructive fury on this village yesterday.

Seventy-Eight Hurt

Seventy-eight pupils are listed as "dangerously hurt," and about one hundred and fifty others are recovering from painful but minor injuries sustained when the tornado demolished the Consolidated school building here.

The tornado struck without warning shortly after the luncheon recess had ended. One hundred and fifty-five students were at their desks, undisturbed by intermittent showers and the ominous wail of rising winds. Windstorms in this mountainous section of southwest Virginia are a rare phenomenon.

Suddenly the rising winds merged into a shrieking, twisting, battering rain that struck the Molehuckey valley with terrific force about a half mile below the school. The twister leveled a half dozen buildings at its first blow, fortunately with no fatalities, and then swept in a crazy, swerving path at the schoolhouse and its unsuspecting occupants.

In an instant the schoolhouse was a shivering bedlam, torn from its foundations and hurled into the air by the terrific impact. In another instant it was a complete ruin, with bodies of students crumpled on the ground, others maimed and screaming and still others fleeing in hysterical fear from the schoolhouse, now reduced to matchwood.

Despite the immediate and complete severance of communication, parents from outlying sections, where most of the children lived, quickly learned of the disaster and within a short time were arriving at the scene in nondescript conveyances ranging from ancient automobiles to farm wagons.

Ambulances Arrive

Ambulances from Kingsport, Bristol, Gate City and Johnson City, clanged into Rye Cove as the pitiful task of separating those beyond aid from the living was begun.

The eleven dead schoolgirls and the teacher were laid to one side and ambulance surgeons supervised the hasty loading of thirty-eight of the most dangerously hurt onto a Southern Railway train at Clinchport.

Tracks were cleared for the train and it sped over clear tracks into Bristol where the sufferers were rushed to hospitals. Six of the children taken to Bristol were reported near death.

Four others were placed in ambulances at Rye Cove and taken to Kingsport, Tenn., where one was reported dying. Doctors and private families at Clinchport opened their homes to thirty-six others and scores of seriously injured students were hurried away to their homes by parents.

Harmony Grove, Md., May 3.—One woman was killed, half a dozen persons were injured, and thousands of dollars property damage was caused by the terrific twister that swept up out of Virginia and struck this little community late last night.

Mrs. John J. Shanks was killed when the storm unroofed and almost demolished her home. Her husband was injured, as were half a dozen neighbors whose homes also were struck.

The peak of the storm lasted but little more than 15 minutes. In that time, however, dozens of houses and barns were unroofed and torn from their foundations, orchards uprooted, and telephone lines put out of commission.

Pittsburgh, May 3.—One death, uncounted injuries and an estimated million dollars property loss was the toll enacted from Pennsylvania by wind and rain storms which ripped through the state yesterday.

A miniature tornado, sweeping the Indian Creek Valley near Connelville left in its wake seven injured, scores suffering from minor hurts and damage amounting to $300,000. The general store and ten other buildings at Davistown were demolished. A bridge was swept away and homes unroofed throughout the section.

Pracox went back and garroted his victim to make sure.

Although the young radio mechanic, who faces the electric chair for the confession of his crime, lost a friend he gain another.

Stanley Hart, another boyhood chum, met Pracox while detectives were taking him over the trail of the crime.

"I'm with you," said Hart. Later young Hart said:

"I blame Dorothy for all of Earle's troubles."

Pracox, amateur scientist and criminologist, conducted experiments with drugs, it was discovered today. An investigation is underway to determine if this penchant had any connection with the crime.

The finding of a desecrated burial vault one-half mile from the Pracox home in Mount Vernon suggested the possibility to police that the young murderer planned at one time to dispose of the body of his slain wife in this vault.

A pair of blood-stained gloves were reported found near the vault door which had been forced open. Frances Newman Murray, one of Pracox's sweethearts, was still held as a material witness. The murderer planned that she should be his alibi witness but authorities absolved her of any connection with the crime.

HEAVY TRADING RECORDED
New York, May 3.—Sharp advances in heavy trading were recorded in a number of the active industrial and specialty stocks at the opening of the stock today in response to the small increase in brokers' loans reported after the close of Thursday's market.

A block of 35,000 shares of Postum at 80, the highest price of the year and up 1 1/4 from the previous close.

General Electric jumped 4 1/2 points to 258 1/2 for 6,000 shares and Radio Corporation was up 3 at 113 for 10,000 shares. American International, a leader in yesterday's advance gained 2 points at 72 1/2. American Can was up a point at 130. United Aircraft up 3 1/2 at 140 1/2. National Cash Register up 1/2 at 129.

Bears Napping
The bears in the stock market were caught napping when the reserve board's weekly report showed an increase of only $40,000,000 in brokers' loans, against the $100,000,000 more or less, looked for in Wall Street.

On a heavy over-night accumulation of buying orders for the speculative favorites prices of the active stocks jumped 1 to 5 points.

The record turnover for the opening period was set by Postum, when a 35,000-share block went at 80, the highest price of the year.

Radio, General Electric, American International and other speculative favorites were at their best, as the big sweep the market bare of old issues. General Electric jumped 4 1/2 to 258 1/2, only a few points below the high of the year. Radio sold up 3 points at 113, but there was plenty of stock for sale at that price and after the bears had been soundly thrashed the stock moved down a point or two. The amusement and airplane stocks were in big demand and at slightly higher prices. United Aircraft pushing ahead about 5 points to 151 1/2. Fox, Pathe, and Radio-Keith-Orpheum took the play in the amusement stocks and sold about a point higher.

Iowa Girl Under Ether 20 Times
Brandon, Ia., May 3.—Twenty operations, one a leg amputation, in four years is the experience of Iris Zimer, 16-year-old Brandon school girl.

Iris suffered from a bone infection contracted in 1923 when she injured her knee. At first thought trivial the injury grew worse until it affected the whole leg and necessitated its amputation.

Operation proved to be the start of a long series, most of which required bone replacements. Long periods in hospitals and convalescences which seemed only to develop new ailments.

Last June, though, Iris left the hospital for good, although she still reports every month for examination. But she goes to school and plays with the other youngsters.

"And that's the most important thing," says Iris.

Vows Her Allegiance to Torch Slayer

Mrs. H. Colin Campbell, wife of the "torch slayer," shown at her Elizabeth, N. J., home with her daughters, Virginia and Dorothy, is beginning to weaken under the strain of the trouble which has come to her. At the Second Presbyterian Church recently, services were interrupted when a woman who collapsed and her two children screamed in terror, proved to be Mrs. Campbell and her children. At the same time the brave woman steadfastly denies the truth of the charges against her husband and firmly believes he will be freed before long.

Girl Wins Bet On Judge's Treatment

Denver, May 3.—"Here's two silver dollars that say Judge Foster Symes will give me some rough treatment," said Jerry Brennan, 24, alias Betty Ann Hicks.

"Called," replied a deputy of the United States Marshal's office.

After the trial, Jerry collected the wager, for the federal judge sent her to the federal penitentiary on a three year sentence. She was charged with transportation of a stolen automobile from Denver to Cincinnati. According to the girl's story, her "sweetie" made away with the automobile when they reached Cheyenne, Wyo., and left her stranded on the plains of the cowboy state.

Queen Marie Plays At Different Hobby

Paris, May 3.—Queen Marie of Rumania, who continues to increase the valuable collection of perfume bottles which was a legacy from her grandmother, the Czarina of Russia, never allows a chance visit to the capital to slip by without browsing about in old corners where a choice new one might be found. On her last sojourn in Paris it is rumored that she went home with a precious addition.

King Victor Emmanuel of Italy is an enthusiastic numismatist. King George of England, everyone knows, finds his relaxation in collecting stamps, while his wife, Queen Mary has a particular hobby for old lace.

BUILD BARRICADES TO FIGHT POLICE

May Day Rulings Seen
As Trouble Cause In Big City

Berlin, May 3.—At least 13 persons have been killed in the series of clashes between communists and police which began on the eve of May day and terminated early today with a violent battle at Neukölln, a suburb. The total number of wounded is put at 125.

The police charged the rioters at Neukölln in military formation, hurling hand grenades. The communists had erected barricades in the street, but they were stormed by the policemen after a flareup of vicious fighting.

Three Die In Clash
According to the communists three persons were killed in Neukölln and 20 wounded, but it was believed that the casualties were higher.

Hostilities were resumed in the suburb last night when the communists attempted to demonstrate in protest of the stringent measures taken by the police in enforcing order on May day.

Numerous minor skirmishes occurred before the fighting became general. Several times the communists attempted to parade along Hermann-Strasse, the principal thoroughfare of the suburb, but were dispersed by the police who made 20 arrests.

Then the communists ambushed a police automobile firing from windows and hallways. One policeman was wounded.

A branch office of the Sherrin newspapers was stored and all its windows broken. The police then brought their armored cars into play and according to an announcement by the communist headquarters, used hand grenades freely.

Build Barricades
Reverting to their tactics the night before, the communists destroyed street lamps in the Wedding district and under cover of darkness erected a new barricade behind which they resisted police efforts to dislodge them by weapons of every kind, sticks, stones, broken bottles and an occasional pistol.

To keep casualties down, police ordered all residents to lock and barricade all windows and doors and keep to their quarters meanwhile throwing a cordon about the district to prevent anyone from entering the danger zone.

MYSTERY ABOUT DISAPPEARANCE

Twenty-Year Telephone Operator
Kidnaped By Two Well Known
Chicago Gunmen.

Chicago, May 3.—New mystery today entered the slugging and kidnapping of Miss Rosalie Rizzo, 20-year-old telephone operator, who yesterday was abducted from her home by two well-known gunmen. Her sister, Mrs. Harold Carr, was mysteriously missing today after receiving a telephone call from Miss Rizzo stating she was safe and in the city.

From the mysterious actions of Mrs. Carr, police believe she was threatened or perhaps kidnapped, also.

It was learned that the gunmen, before they went to the rooming house of Allen Ferris, where Miss Rizzo lived, had gone to the Carr home, had beaten Mrs. Carr and then left for the Ferris residence. There, they slugged Ferris and dragged Miss Rizzo to a waiting automobile. Police said they learned one of the gunmen was John Toomey, police character.

Holdings While On Federal Post

Washington, May 3.—The effort to force Andrew W. Mellon out of the cabinet because of his large stock ownership in corporations suffered a setback today when it was learned that the three Democrats, who served as secretary of the treasury under Woodrow Wilson, all owned stock.

William Gibbs McAdoo, the wartime president's son-in-law, Carter Glass, now a senator from Virginia, and David F. Houston all possessed corporation securities while secretary of the treasury. The question whether their holdings made them ineligible for the treasury post under the 100-year-old law forbidding the secretary from "being interested in or carrying on the business of trade or commerce" never was raised against any of them.

FLOW OF METAL FORMS SUBJECT

Scientists To Study Move
Of Solids; Society is Formed

Columbus, O., May 3.—Industry inspection trips to Dayton and other Ohio cities, today marked the closing of the 77th annual convention of the American Chemical Society, which attracted 2,000 chemists and scientists to this city during the past four days to listen to explanations of the intricacies, wonders and technicalities of the chemistry world.

The dying conclave formed a new international organization, to be known as the Society of Rheology. Rheology, it was explained, is the science of flow—the study of the reasons why water, liquids and solids flow.

The last is what might be called a paradox, but sponsors of the society gave assurances that solids, such as cement, iron and glass flow, not only when heated, but also when serving their every-day purposes. Collapse of bridges and dams, which oftentimes have claimed hundreds of lives and millions in property damage, have been laid to the "flowing" physical quality of cement and iron.

It can readily be seen, therefore, that if the newly-organized group can find a means to combat the "flowing" tendencies in solids, a great service will be rendered to the world through the realm of chemistry and science.

DEADLOCK HOLDS LEAGUE DEBATE

Opinions Differ On War
Materials Surplus
Disposition

Geneva, May 3.—With a deadlock developed in the meeting of the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission over war materials, Hugh Gibson, the American delegate, today demanded a "show down" by Saturday.

"Twenty-six speakers are deadlocked upon the issues of direct or indirect limitation of war supplies," said Nicholas Politis, of Greece, the presiding officer, "Personally I favor Mr. Gibson's publicity plan."

Maxim Litvinoff, of Russia, heckled the speakers continuously, and caused the side tracking of a resolution containing Mr. Gibson's proposals on limitation of war supplies, war supply budgets and publicity to reveal the war materials on hand in the various states.

One faction wants "direct reduction of war supplies and the budgets providing for their purchase." Another faction wants "indirect limitation so that any convention that may eventually be drawn will treat the subject lightly."

The United States had sided with France for "indirect limitation" although Hugh Gibson, the American delegate, said his country favors the widest publicity so that the whole world would thus know the amount of reserve war supplies held by each of the big powers.

COURT NEWS

Seeks Accident Damage

Rella Temme, residing on a farm one mile east of Saineville, through her counsel W. A. O'Grady of Wells-ville has entered suit against the Pennsylvania railroad Co. for $800 as damage to his truck as a result of it being struck by a freight train at Temme crossing on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad.

The petition recites that the railroad company raised its tracks at this crossing, and when the plaintiff was driving over the crossing with a load of coal, the drive shaft caught on the rails, stalling the engine of the truck, and then the truck was wrecked by the freight train.

Men With Pep Win Big Rewards

Life's battle isn't always to the strong, but the 100% man has the better of it every way. Weakness counts against any one.

Men who have lost their pep, men who fail to get full enjoyment out of life, men whose nerves make themselves known—all these know they are handicapped. Many of them have found renewed vigor and strength through the use of World's Famous—the new medicine that has made so many friends in Salem.

Its upbuilding effect is noticeable almost from the first dose. It invigorates, helps clean the system, aids and enriches the blood, steadies the nerves, aids the digestion—just the course required to help bring back full strength and add that zest that makes life worth living.

Take it yourself. You will know its benefits only from actual experience. World's Famous is sold at $1.00 a bottle by J. H. Camp and other good druggists.

"I was terribly run down last summer, but because of my age (54) thought it only natural until I began taking World's Famous. Then my bowels began to work regularly and the gas left my stomach. I recovered my pep and strength so quickly that I have recommended it to riddle aged friends who have learned its benefits for themselves. Mrs. J. C. Giers, E. Live-pool, Ohio." (A-107) Adv.

ESKIMO HISTORY TO BE READ IN ALASKA MOUNDS

Days of Past May Live
Again To Explorers
In Area

Philadelphia, May 3.—The University of Pennsylvania will make excavations of the unusual mounds of Eskimo origin near Point Barrow, Alaska, as soon as weather conditions permit possibly sometime in June, it was announced at the Museum here.

The expedition it is hoped will throw new light on the early history and culture of the Eskimos. The work will be carried on by Eschscholtz, under the direction of Alfred H. Brown, an Alaskan who has been selected for the task.

Discovered in 1918
The first group of mounds which were excavated was found in 1918 by W. B. Van Valin, a research anthropologist, was engaged in collecting specimens and conducting researches in the neighborhood of Point Barrow for the University Museum.

It was supposed they were of native origin until one of Van Valin's men discovered human bones protruding from one of a group of mounds situated near the settlement of Utkiakvik, about eight miles from Barrow.

Excavation then revealed that each of the mounds contained a house, resembling a house. These houses varied greatly in shape and size from 15 by 10 feet to 18 by 18 feet. All were built of sod, with walls from two to three feet high, and ceilings of logs. A thick covering of sod had been placed over the roofs and the walls and skylight which had been cut into each roof was covered with seal walrus entrails.

Remains Found
Within the structures were found the remains of eighty-three persons, ranging in age from infancy to maturity, and in no instance could any evidence of violent death be found.

With few exceptions the bodies lay on beds on the earthen floor. These beds being composed principally of moss and ground willow covered with robes of brown bear, caribou and musk ox. The body of one child was lying on two sled runners of a very ancient type.

Besides each body, male or female, lay the implements and possessions of daily life, including wooden drinking cups, baleen vessels containing small pieces of seal blubber and blubber, and a three-pronged fish-spear.

"It was at first believed the mounds were part of an Eskimo settlement whose inhabitants had perished in their beds as a result of starvation, cold and epidemic of disease, or poison. The orderly manner in which the bodies had been placed and the apparent grouping of the personal belongings of the deceased, however, later led scientists to believe that the structures were in fact for 'charnel houses,'" Dr. J. H. Mason, curator of the Museum stated.

Discovery of such a large collection of skeleton material under such conditions constituted a most important find, but no immediate effort to carry on further research work was made by the Museum at that time. Later last year, however, the skeletal material was examined by Dr. Alex Hrdlicka of the National Museum at Washington, who reached the conclusion that the bones found resembled those of the present Eskimo of southern Greenland and Labrador, and differ therefore from the west coast Eskimo.

Snakes of India Exact Heavy Toll Among Residents

London, May 3.—Snakes kill an average of 20,000 persons every year in India, it is revealed in the Statistical Abstract for British India, presented to Parliament by the Secretary of State for India.

In cold figures, the record of people killed by marauders of the jungle in 1926, for instance, was as follows:

By wild animals 1,935
By snakes 19,724
That year was comparatively light. In 1921 wild animals killed 3,290 people; snakes had a year of deadly work in 1917, when they accounted for 200 deaths.

Every year the Indian Government pays thousands of dollars to people to kill snakes, and other death-dealing creatures. In 1926, for example, there were 23,659 wild animals and 64,612 snakes destroyed.

Electricity Popular With N. Englanders

Boston, May 3.—Eighty-four per cent of all the homes, including farms, in New England are wired for electricity, according to figures made public by the New England Council. There are 1,650,000 wired homes in New England out of a total of 1,930,000 homes. Only 64 per cent of the homes and farms in the United States as a whole are now wired. All of the New England states are high in this respect. New Hampshire has second highest percentage of any state, with 97 per cent of all her homes served with electricity, being exceeded by New York state alone.

James Volstead, Ind., May 3.—"Let me be a peace; the Volstead law is a peace."

A local "drunk" solemnly slept under a porch with that sign upon his chest when he was taken in custody by police who arrived on a call that a dead man had been found. The "drunk" of Volstead was released in custody on a promise to stay sober.

DAYTON POLICE ARREST LITTLE

Dry Agent to Face Charge
In Lancaster; Father
Swears Warrant

Lancaster, O., May 3.—Charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, which has been filed against Ed Little, suspended state dry agent, by Luther Conrad, father of Helen ("Billie") Conrad, 16-year-old girl, who declared that Little gave her wine to drink, were withdrawn by Conrad here today.

Lancaster, O., May 3.—Ed Little, suspended dry agent, who is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old girl in connection with the "wine-women" prohibition scandal here, will be returned here sometime today from Dayton, Ohio, where he was arrested late last night.

Sheriff Gail Sessler was notified of Little's arrest in that city and started there immediately, to bring the dry agent here to answer to charges of giving 16-year-old Helen ("Billie") Conrad wine to drink. The affidavit and warrant for Little's arrest was sworn to by the girl's father, Luther Conrad.

No other new developments marked the night here. John O. Cole, another state dry agent, whose name has been more than mentioned with the scandal, and who worked with Little during the latter's three-week liquor drive here, is not wanted here as no charge has been filed against him.

AIRPLANE SEEN IN LAKE DIVE

Storm Tossed Waters of Lake Michigan Hide
Craft's Identity

Indiana Harbor, Ind., May 3.—Coast guardmen and police today were searching waters of the southern tip of Lake Michigan near here for a biplane seen to dive into the lake during a rain and sleet storm.

A lighthouse tender reported that the plane, flying low, suddenly dipped into the waves and vanished. Choppy water has hindered the search.

The plane apparently was privately owned as a check-up revealed that no air mail flyers operating in this section were missing.

C. W. Leland Starts Watch "Trade-Ins"

Salem Jeweler Predicts
Most Merchants Will Adopt New System

The Leland Watch Shop, Jewelers, at 68 Main street, have introduced a unique feature in selling watches through the novel system of allowing "trade ins." Mr. Leland allows a certain amount on an old watch in the purchase of a new watch.

As a result Mr. Leland expects to replace many old model "too large" watches with new modern timepieces more suitable for present day needs.

"It is simply a natural development of the watch business," explains Mr. Leland. "There isn't any reason why watches shouldn't be traded in like automobiles or any other commodity."

"The fact cannot be overlooked today that the world is moving at a very fast pace. Styles in watches, jewelry, houses, clothes, furniture are quickly changing to meet present day needs; improvements are being made that make greater efficiency and accuracy for the users. "There is no reason why 'trade ins' should not apply to other lines as well as automobiles." Adv.

EAST LIVERPOOL OUT OF TRACK COMPETITION

Lack Of Coach Forces Ceramic Center From Field Meet This Year

Liverpool High, for probably the first time in county track history, will not be represented when Columbiana county scholastic athletes gather at Reilly Stadium, Saturday, May 11th, for the annual Columbiana county meet.

Spring sport activities are at a halt at the Ceramic Centre school this year, due to the lack of a coach. Joe Hurst, former mentor, having quit at the end of basketball season to enter the newspaper field with his father in New Philadelphia. Baseball, which Liverpool had wanted to inaugurate into the athletic schedule last year is entirely out of the picture, while the only interest in track is shown by readers.

Interest has always been high in any type of sport at Liverpool, and football there is taking it bitterly. No county competition is ever the same without Blue and White representation. The school had no great hopes for a county championship combine this season, but there was always a willingness among the backers to back their team despite the fact that it might be elated to occupy the berth of under-dog.

Withdrawal Helps Salem

One-liners admit that Liverpool, probably not break into Salem High's championship winning track this year, but it is a certainty that the Blue and White would have done a lot of splitting up of points and that would have played a big part in defeating the Springmen, who are anything but world-beaters. There were several good boys as far as track talent is concerned in Liverpool and it was picked as one of the contenders for the county cup, previous to the withdrawal from the sport entirely.

That it is not in this year's competition does not mean it won't be back in the field next year, however. By this time in 1930 a new coach will have been selected, and preparations under way to put the Ceramic City back on the sport map in the same prominence that it held five years ago, when it always was a contender for the football and track titles, and generally was conceded the basketball championship.

Attempts were made to secure Pierre Hill, Martins Ferry coach by school officials, but Hill had already signed for another year at Ferry and besides, it would cost any school in the county plenty of money to get him away from there. Plenty of other prominent strategists are under consideration, and Liverpool is certain to be back on the sport map in coming years.

Joe Hurst, left after a stormy, though fairly successful coaching career at Liverpool. The climax was reached when he twice threatened to pull his football team from the field in the game here last season, then withdrew his eagerness from the game against the Red and Black, with ten seconds left to play. Athletic relations were promptly postponed between the schools, and his departure will probably bring the two back into warfare again.

Manager Problem Was Great One In Old Days of Baseball

New York, May 3.—In most organizations the advent of a new boss is the cause of considerable speculation and trepidation among the hirelings, but such is not the case when Grover Cleveland Alexander and Cy Williams, these grand old men of the diamond, awake some fine morning to take orders from a new pilot. For both have seen so many bosses come and go that they take it as a matter of course.

During his 17 years in the big show, Williams has served under 15 managers—almost a new one every season. Alexander, who entered the National League a year ahead of the Quaker City home run hitter, has taken orders from 11 pilots.

With Two Clubs

The record of Williams is the more remarkable because he has played with only two teams, the Cubs and the Phillies. Alex has sported the spangles of the Phillies the Cubs and the Cardinals.

During Cy's sojourn with the Cubs, managers were being fired faster than office boys. From 1912 to 1917, when Williams was a Bruin, the team was managed successively by Frank Chance, Hank O'Day, Roger Bresnahan, Joe Tinker and Fred Mitchell.

In 1917 Williams went to the Phillies in a deal for Dode Paskert. In Quakertown he served under Pat Moran, Jack Coombs, Gabby Cravath, Bill Donovan, Irwin Wilhelm, Art Fletcher, Stuffy McInnis and Bert Shotton.

When Alexander came to the Phillies from the minors, Charley Dooin was his first manager. Next was Moran. Then Old Pete was sent to the Cubs with Catcher Bill Killefer for 50 grand. In Chi the pitchers' managers were Johnny Evers, Killefer, Rabbit Maranville, George Gibson and Joe McCarthy.

When Alex found that his views on a suitable diet did not coincide with those held by McCarthy, he was shipped down the river to St. Louis where he came under the guiding genius of Rogers Hornsby. Alex immediately responded to the new and more liberal managerial policy by pitching the Cardinals into a pennant and a world's championship.

Going Strong

During his short stay with the Red Birds Alex has done his stuff for four managers—Hornsby, Bob O'Farrell, Bill McKenchie and Billy Southworth.

Incidentally, both Alexander and Williams appear to be as good as ever this year. Alex made his debut by holding Cincinnati to five hits and winning. In his second start he had the Cubs tamed until his old pal Hornsby, jolted him with a rousing homer.

Williams is not seeing as much service as yore, due to the slowing of the legs which once cleared the hurdles so easily at Notre Dame. But he proved that he can still massage the old cnick by poling a ball over the right field fence in Philly in one of the early games.

East Goes West And West To Play Baseball In East

BY DAVID J. WALSH

New York, May 3.—They are starting to strike a trial balance in the major leagues today, as the west comes east and the east goes west. The baseball's first big show down of the 1929 season, an inter-sectional event that will tell the New York Yankees in particular much of what they wish to know about the immediate future. The telling may be done in somewhat mournful numbers, for the Yanks are headed into the land that yielded them their last two pennants and now may rise up to deny them a third. The western end of the American League no longer is mere kick in the pants for the club that seeks a league record with four consecutive victories.

Frankly, they don't figure to get it. Regardless of what happened in the Yankee-Athletic field meetings of 1928, the Yanks really won their last two pennants in the west. If they are to lose this one, I think that is where they will do it.

Few clubs ever won a pennant unless they could show a winning percentage on the road, a fact that makes these inter-sectional meetings what they are. The west's tour of the National League, therefore, is a most significant one, since the Chicago Cubs, hot choice for the pennant this year, couldn't beat anything except a retreat in this section during the last two seasons.

Chicago—His knowledge of the atom has won for Prof. Werner Heisenberg, 28, University of Chicago physicist, the annual medal of the Research Corp. of New York. Heisenberg discovered the "principal of uncertainty."

Four Outfits To Play Hardball; Eight Enter Mushball Competition

Formation of two city baseball leagues, one the regulation hardball, and the second, the popular mushball pastime, was started at the meeting of managers and fans at the Memorial building last night. Eight entries were received for the soft-ball circuit, and four in the regulation league.

Opening games in mushball will be played next week. Joe M. Kelley announced, while the hardball circuit's opening will be delayed until the diamond at Centennial park is improved. It had been planned to scrape and level the diamond today, but consistent rains made it impossible.

The Salem China, Deming Pump, and Corso Sunkist Fruits are the three teams entered as a certainty in the baseball league, while at least one other has implied that it will enter The Electric Furnace may drop out of mushball and take up the official sport, while either Perry McArthur or M. P. Ellsworth, will place the fourth team in the field.

The Colonial Billiards, Mallin, Kiwanis, Saxons, Electric Furnace, Macabees, Post Office, Merchants, and Electric Furnace will vie for honors in the mushball loop, the only probable retraction being the Furnace outfit, if it decides to play regular ball.

The Billiards are composed of the same team that represented Salem in the independent baseball field, known as the Salem Cubs. In the hardball loop they play under the banner of Joe Corso's Sunkist fruits, and in the larger circuit are backed by Jole Boya. They will have every kind of stiff competition in both leagues, for each team entered is planning a strong lineup of present and former diamond stars.

The Potters boast a combination of old-timers, in Harry Vincent, catcher, Frank Scullion, short stop, who has traveled with the Detroit Clovans and famous House of Davids, Clarence Scullion, second-sacker, Walt Collins, first baseman, and others.

The mushball schedule will be drawn up today by Kelley, and every team must have a list of 15 players in by its opening game. Disputes in eligibility will be argued out between managers and the city commission.

"STATE STREET SADIE"
An exceptional crook mystery play is offered the rest of this week at the Royal Theatre. The excitement of last night's opening audience was infectious. The clamorous applause certainly provides all the thrills that any one can want of a single entertainment.

The same team that made "The Girl from Chicago" such powerful melodrama, heads the cast in this Warner Bros. production. Certainly Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy fit the parts like the proverbial glove. The hand, and give a dynamic go to this rare attraction which will fill the most blasé picture patron with suspense and eagerness to learn what's going to happen next.

The others in the cast are perfect. Pat Hartigan is Pat Hartigan, and that is enough praise to anyone who knows his movies. While George Stone and William Russell as gangsters, make you glad that you're introduced to them through the flicker world, and not via a dark hallway on a murky night.

"WILD PARTY"

The story of "The Wild Party" from the pen of Warner Fabian, author of "Flaming Youth", is a tale of a girl who falls in love with one of her teachers, a young man who returns her love in spite of her capricious attendance at wild parties. Underlying the spirit of unlettered youth, however, is the steadfast loyalty of the girl for her chum and room-mate, and when the critical test of that loyalty comes, Clara tells a lie to save her girl-friend from disgrace. The climax forces Clara to leave college, but the professors, the man she loves, decides that he too, will forsake the academic existence for the prosaic life in the busy workaday world.

To play in a picture with Douglas Fairbanks means real work.

To fight with D'Artagnan and his three musketeers means actual combat.

"The Iron Mask" Mr. Fairbanks' newest United Artists picture, which is at the Grand Theatre is filled with thrilling scenes of battle. One of the most exciting of these episodes is the fight between the four musketeers, O'Artagnan, Athos, Porthos and Aramis, and the guards of Cardinal Richelieu.

Director Allan Dwan issued a call for the fifty most experienced swordsmen in Hollywood to enact the Cardinal's henchmen. Mr. Fairbanks, Mr. Bary, Mr. Sandford and Mr. Corrado, who play the four loyal musketeers, are expert in the handling of the tapered blades. The fight which they waged was a terrible one.

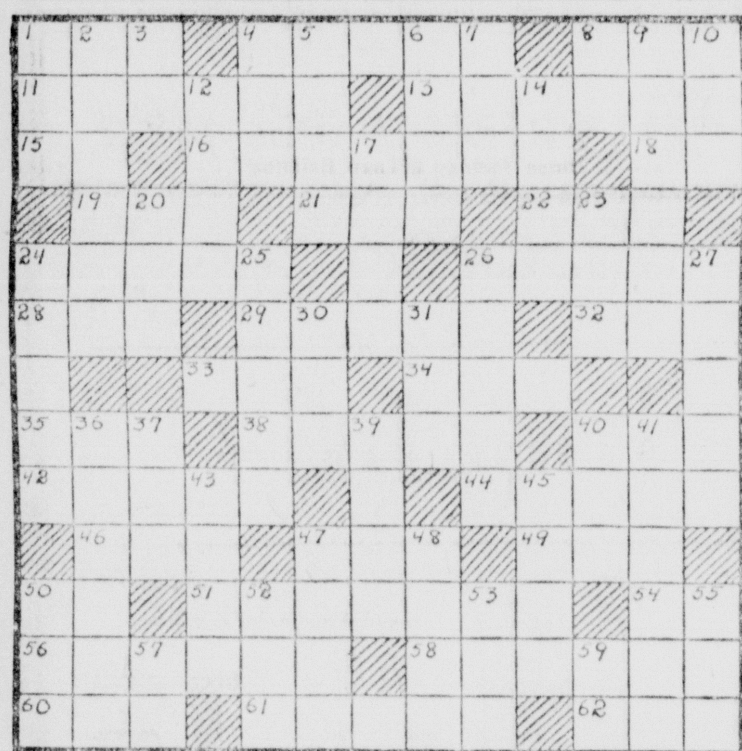

Many were the bruises which resulted from the fray. The studio's hospital was called upon for amica, gauze, adhesive tape and iodine, to care for the wounded combatants. Four against fifty seems tremendous odds, but this quartet of gallant guardsmen put up a real battle. The wounds which they inflicted upon their adversaries were minor, but many.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

—By Wanda Barton

Blessings on the man who started the fad for color in the kitchen, and rescued us from the hospital-white kitchens that gave home a sanitary but slightly institutional look. White is not the most cheerful color at all times. It's cold as well as cool. And when it is less than white, it is rather depressing. For indelible stains will get on some surfaces. Scratches and chips happen in the most careful households. And they are worst-looking on white than on any other color.

No one need go wrong on selecting colors that harmonize. Color charts are offered to assist in right combination, so that your floor covering, furniture, draperies in three or four contrasting tints or shades blend beautifully. There are definite laws of color harmony—as definite as the laws of musical harmony, and anyone can choose colors expertly with a little care.

But there are two pitfalls. One is getting to be quite common—the tendency to overdo colors, especially the bright ones. It's very well to have a cheery kitchen of green and yellow with a bit of red and white netting for curtains. Good enough. But if you walk from this into a blue and gray and orange dining room, then into a lavender and old gold bathroom—well, the grand total is somewhat jangling to the eyes and nerves. That's exactly the color scheme of an actual suite and beautiful rooms they were, each one assembled in a single apartment the effect was rather appalling. There is such a thing as too much color, and it has a decidedly irritating effect. Like the apartment of a futurist poet in Greenwich Village. This nice boy wanted to express his turbulent individuality, so he set about painting his entire apartment in the style used to camouflage battle ships during the war. Large blobs of color in irregular shapes were outlined with black and this sharp motif covered every inch of a three-room apartment—walls, doors, floors, yes, even the ceiling. Fifty of color, but the ensemble was bewildering. Can this be real, you asked yourself?

If rooms are en suite, not only must the colors in each room harmonize, but there should be a consecutive blend, so that moving from one room to another one doesn't become too painfully conscious of wild colors. Rooms in a home should be restful, not irritating. Too much positive coloring has a subtle but sure influence against relaxation.

Another point to watch in choosing color combination is how well it suits those who live in the room? Not only in their color preferences, but in the background. There's Mrs. B., a rather plain little woman with straw-colored hair and regular but undistinguished features. She has the habit of wearing tan and brown clothes and doesn't strike one as at all good-looking, until you see her in her own living room. By some happy chance the tints of walls and draperies are exactly suited to her. Just the right green and gold and violet scattered about provide a frame for her type and coloring. She steps into her own living room and the otherwise plain woman looks exquisite.

The colors in a room are part of the stage setting for the occupants. They should provide a pleasing background, and this may mean that you have to pass by a tempting combination or even relinquish your favorite colors, in order to achieve those that are becoming.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, May 3. — Fabrics are far more important in the Haute Couture than they have been for many a season in Paris. There are not only new and varied weaves used by all of the houses, but even dressmaker is launching a special one featured for its exclusive use.

One has sheer woven crepe that has never been seen before. Another has chiffons specially decorated for her by a celebrated artist and lengths of chiffon dyed in new and charming color harmonies never seen but in a rainbow, are featured.

Voile rodelle is a new transparent weave endorsed by many of the couturiers and shantung weaves are another feature of the spring showings.

Prints are perhaps more in evidence than ever before, used for entire ensembles as well as accessories. They are new in design and colorings and appear in many media, necktie and tub silks, tushkasha and linen, as well as crepes and chiffons. There is a distinct tendency to get away from the small set flower patterns on dark grounds which had a great vogue last year. Banded treatments are smart and there are floral and leaf designs.

Printed taffeta has small indefinite designs in a single color on contrasting ground. Taffeta spotted with small gold dots is smart for evening as well as daytime.

For late afternoon and evening wear are rampant, small motif, printed, chenille and crepe laces.

Wealthy Tourists Travel With Poor: Rates At Sea Drop

Chicago, May 3. — Millionaires drop their aloofness on the high seas. Wealthy travelers accustomed to the best hotels and accommodations on land, have begun to invade the second class and tourist third cabins, a survey by William Baird, steamship passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, revealed.

The desire for the so-called easy-going companionship of strangers among the middle class was seen by Baird as the reason for the wealthy classes using the best accommodations less than usually.

To offset the popularity of third class cabins, the Canadian Pacific Steamships announced a new reduction of ten per cent in the rates for first class passengers upon both their trans-Atlantic and trans-Pacific liners, effective immediately.

"Accordingly, to such persons accustomed to refined atmosphere," Baird said, "the recent ten per cent reduction in round trip cabin fares is a gesture for them to continue in the environment to which they have been accustomed."

Gigantic Automobile Plant Is Planned For Soviet Russia

Moscow, May 3. — The significant suggestion that a 400,000,000 ruble ($200,000,000) automobile plant be constructed by a government corporation empowered to sell stock to individuals both in Russia and abroad was advanced by a section of the press in a long discussion of the necessity of motorizing the country.

It is the first time that such a "capitalistic" proposal has been made in Soviet Russia where the state owns the majority of large industries in which individuals participate only indirectly by buying government loans drawing interest.

Government organizations, and state trusts would also be invited to subscribe to blocks of the stock, but the majority shares would be held by the government directly.

Whether such a large amount of money could be raised inside the country over the planned period of five years is a question. Government loans, used to pad out the federal budget, already consumes all the capital in the country. It is believed, therefore, that in the construction of the plant will be undertaken with foreign capital operating as a mixed company with half the stock owned by the Soviets and half by Americans.

Plans for the dream automobile factory have been worked out to the minutest detail. It is even held that at the end of five years the plant supposedly would be turning out 100,000 light cars a year, the government could export automobiles to Persia, Afghanistan and Mongolia.

Gasoline Problem

Motor experts also have already figured out that with such a huge number as 100,000 automobiles in the country six years hence some substitute for gasoline must be produced, even though Russia is now the second largest oil producing country in the world.

There are now 14,000 automobiles and trucks in the country, or one for every 11,000 inhabitants.

The biggest item of expense in the motorization plan would be for road building. Outside of a few trunk highways it is now impossible to use automobiles efficiently in Russia. Even in the cities the wear and tear is enormous because of the ancient cobblestone pavements.

Court Grants Order

In the alimony action filed in common pleas by Viola M. Percy against her husband Jesse G. Percy, restraining order against the defendant has granted a temporary tending as prayed for in the amended petition, and without bond.

Seek Foreclosure

Foreclosure of a land contract is sought in a petition filed by James F. Hobbs and others against Herman O. Gehley and others, it being claimed there is due the plaintiff $1241 and interest from April 3, 1929. The petition refers to lots 139 and 160 in Beechwood addition, East Liverpool.

FAIRFIELD P.T.A. HOLDS ELECTION

Forester commends Pupils
For Work in Arbor
Day Celebration

Middleton, May 2.—The Fairfield Township P. T. A. held its last meeting of the year on Thursday evening when reports of committees and officers were given and a new official family was chosen for the coming year; the result of the election being: President, Mrs. William Drasdo; vice president, Barnett Graham; secretary, Miss Pauline Schwab; treasurer, Wilmer Crook.

The report of the committee showed that by the close of the Arbor Day program held on April 26th, 1299 trees and some shrubbery had been added to the school grounds and the state forestry expert, Mr. Dean from Wooster, said that Fairfield school led the entire state in this celebration as never before had a school community done as much work along the lines of reforestation as has been done by patrons and students here this year.

The evening's program consisted of readings, solos, songs by the fourth and seventh grades, a talk by County Supt. Leonard on the advantages of teaching music appreciation in the public schools.

KONJOLA ENDED DOUBLE AILMENT AFTER 15 YEARS

Stomach and Kidney Troubles
Yielded to New Medicine
Like a Different Man

"My confidence in Konjola was certainly rewarded," said Mr. H. Reneker, 754 Second Street, New Philadelphia.

"For fifteen years my life had been miserable due to the suffering I endured from stomach and kidney troubles. I tried many medicines but always met with failure. If I ate certain foods I suffered agonies. My stomach bloated and I had no appetite. I lost weight and strength. I was nervous, and my sleep was frequently disturbed by frequent bladder actions."

"A neighbor recommended Konjola, and this new medicine seemed to fit my case exactly. Two bottles made a marked improvement. My kidneys were strengthened, and my stomach is in perfect condition. New strength and energy are mine. I have never heard of any medicine that can be compared to Konjola. I know that others will be interested in my happy experience."

Konjola is sold in Salem at J. H. Lease Drug Store (Mr. Kaminsky) and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

which he thought might be accomplished in part by the installation of a good radio so that the radio school of music would be available. Judge J. H. C. Lyon of Youngstown spoke on Crime and Crime Waves and urged the training of young men in matters pertaining to the capturing of criminals as no criminal can be tried and punished until he is caught.

Judge Lyon stated the strongest deterrent to crime are sureness of detection and punishment, he blamed the present crime wave on the failure of the three great social agencies: the home, the school, and the church, and the bravado with which many of our leading citizens break laws that they don't like.

Reading, 'Riting, 'Ritmetic, Radio For Schooldays Now

Voices and Sounds from Air Form Part of Education in Many Schools

Salem, May 3.—Reading, 'Riting, 'Ritmetic and Radio—these are the four R's and the new system of education. The most elaborate radio educational system in the new high school at West Plains, N. Y., is being used. N. C. and Schenectady, N. Y., are also using it. The Federal Communications Commission, which has approved the plan, says that public speaking classes will be radio connection in the classroom, as in a part of the plan. There is a central radio set feeding into each room loudspeakers and the plan will be available in the day.

The introduction of radio into the classroom tends to eliminate isolation of schools from the outside world, said Professor Enghardt.

They will now teach children in the classroom instead of in the academic room. It will bring parents and children together, and there is a common interest in both radio-minded.

Aid To Schools
Professor Enghardt pointed out that the radio could be used as an auxiliary arm of education, that public speaking classes will be in on addresses of important public officials, the social studies classes would pick up lectures by state health officers; drawing classes would turn the dial to foreign languages; home economics classes would hear subjects relating to this topic.

Professor Enghardt further pointed out the elasticity of the new system. It would permit the formation of groups in the classroom in the afternoon or some other time, as in a treatment of that subject on the radio.

C. C. Blom, who is assisting Professor Enghardt with research work in connection with the subject, said the radio as a tool to aid instruction is in use in some form in schools of Oakland, Cal., Birmingham, Detroit, Chicago, Rochester, N. Y., Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and other cities.

Biggest Problem
One of the biggest troubles in the past has been to get the schools and the broadcasters together, said Blom. From a commercial standpoint it is reasonable to expect that large chain broadcasters will be with favor upon the education programs for schools because the programs would be given during the hours of the day when traffic for the stations is very heavy. The large national broadcasting stations are not the only sources from which educational program can be obtained. Nearly every section of the United States has at least one good local commercial station and there also are stations operated by large universities and colleges.

Elementary Work
"Extensive broadcasting is done by some of the state schools like Kansas State Agricultural College, Iowa State College of Agriculture, South Dakota State College and Ohio State University.

"These already include in their programs material suitable to supplement the work of elementary and secondary schools. The published program of the Kansas State Agricultural College indicates that daily programs of 25 minutes are intended for rural schools. The programs include music, instructional talks and callisthenics.

"Connections and Ohio state departments of education have used High School of the Air at Paterson, N. J., gives radio courses including English, composition, grammar, algebra, arithmetic, general science, social science, anthropology, history, agriculture, nature study, drawing and home economics.

Canton.—There was an increase of 23 marriage licenses issued in probate court during the month of April as compared with the number given out for the same month last year. Last month 126 couples purchased legal permits to marry, as against 103 for April of last year. Whalbone is not bone at all, but the horny substance called baleen, which is found in the palate of the whale.

Always Safe

When your Children Cry for It

Here's relief and comfort for crying, fretful, feverish babies or children that you don't need to urge or command them to take. They love the delicious taste of Fletcher's Castoria. Your doctor will tell you it's absolutely safe, so you can give it as freely and as often as needed to keep your children happy and well. A few drops is all it takes to quiet fretful, feverish, colicky babies; relieve their biliousness, gas on stomach, constipation, etc.; soothe them to sleep in a jiffy. For like disorders in older children, you simply use a little larger dose of the same reliable Fletcher's Castoria. Don't use grown folks' medicine; with babies or children, specialists say. Ninety per cent of them recommend Fletcher's Castoria; and thirty years of steadily increasing popularity proves they're right. To protect you from imitations, the Fletcher signature is on every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria.

MEXICO SOLDIER MARKSMANSHIP MUCH IMPROVED

But At That Casualties Few Considering Shots Which Are Fired

Negales, Sonora, Mex., May 4.—Traditionally inaccurate, the marksmanship of the Mexican soldier has nevertheless improved considerably within the past few years.

It is jestingly said—perhaps not without exaggeration—that the safest position on a battlefield in Mexico is squarely in front of the enemy's rifles and that men are usually killed by accident, rarely on purpose.

During the engagement at Naco, Sonora, in the present revolution only about 25 attacking rebels, out of an army of more than 3,000, were killed, while the entrenched federalists lost no more than five men. This, despite the fact that the battle raged from sunup until late afternoon.

In the siege of Mazatlan, one of the fiercest engagements of the revolution, involving some seven thousand troops, the most liberal estimate of casualties placed the dead at 200 on both sides.

Casualties Padded
Only in the decisive operations on the Jimenez, Chihuahua, front did the estimated casualties total approximate figures of battle in portions of the world where more modern methods of warfare prevail. And, at that, subsequent developments proved both federal and rebel statistical claims to be fantastically exaggerated.

Observers on the firing line at Naco, when the rebel General Faus-ta sent his columns into a determined push against the powerful federal fortifications, stated that there appeared to be greater danger from federal bullets at a distance of 2,000 yards than at 500 yards. This is explained by the entrenched soldiers' disinclination to lift their heads above the breast-works in order to take aim.

Despite this incompetency with firearms, however, old-timers along the Mexican border aver that the Mexican soldier of today is a much better marksman, and a much better soldier, for that matter, than his predecessor of 10 or 15 years ago.

In those days, it is related, two opposing divisions would fire at each other all day without drawing a single drop of blood.

Marked Improvement
The marked improvement in the Mexican soldiery is attributed to the fact that, within the past decade, military and political leaders have concentrated on building up an army, modeled after that of the United States and European nations. Systematic importation and manufacture of arms and ammunition has tended to modernize available means of warfare while under the powerful impetus of such men as the late Alvaro Obregon, a heretofore unknown discipline has been raised to a more attractive level, while the quality of provisions and clothing has been measurably improved.

Bolder old-timers say that the present rebel forces are better equipped and trained than the insurgent armies of any previous revolution. The rebel armies, it must be remembered, are composed mainly of members of the regular army who deserted their government to follow the revolutionary leaders in mutiny.

Bison Milk Proves Rich In Butter-Fat

Missoula, Mont., May 1.—Federal caretakers of bison herds often have unique experiences, but Frank H. Rose of the Montana National Buffalo Range claims a record.

Rose recently received an order from Salt Lake City for a pint of bison milk for laboratory use. As he is a man who usually does what he sets about to do, he roped one of the wary cows and snubbed her into a crate.

The first attempt to milk the animal resulted in a crushed pail. After an operation of hog-tieing and trussing the task was accomplished. It contained 7.9 per cent butter-fat. Testing of the milk found that fat and was pure white in color.

"I Had to Force Myself to Work"

"But I Had Renewed Energy, Fine Appetite, Sound Sleep, After Taking Owa-Ton-Na"

Mr. J. D. Circle, Salem, Route No. 3, says: "For several years I have been gradually going down hill. My health was not what it should be, my bowels were always constipated, and I constantly had to take laxatives and physics but they gave me no permanent relief."

"My liver was sluggish and inactive. Frequent attacks of gas and bloating spells gave me a great deal of misery. Dizzy spells and headaches seemed to be daily occurrences. As if this were not enough, my kidneys started to go back on me, causing me to have terrible backaches and get up several times at night to relieve them. These troubles seemed to keep my nerves in very bad condition."

Owa-Ton-Na has made a big change in my condition. Constipation is relieved, my stomach feels fine and I can now eat most anything without gas and bloating spells. My kidneys are acting normally and once again I can get a good rest at night. My nerves are much stronger, headaches and dizzy spells are a thing of the past. Owa-Ton-Na certainly has done me a world of good. It just seems to cleanse the system from top to bottom and I can highly recommend it to anyone who is in a nervous run down condition."

Owa-Ton-Na is a non-alcoholic herbal preparation for kidney, liver, stomach and intestinal disorders. Sold at Flogging's, Bolger & French, J. H. Lease Drug Stores in Salem. Adv.
